

Anishnawbe Health Toronto Community Health Worker Trainees (on-line)

We are seeking Indigenous applicants for the Community Health Worker Training Program. This full-time, 12-month program is hosted by Anishnawbe Health Toronto, in partnership with George Brown College and Miziwe Biik Aboriginal Employment & Training. Students take a selection of courses in each 4-month term. This year the program will be a combination of on-line courses and practical skills training. Successful completion of this training program leads to a George Brown certificate and the qualifications to enter the second year, of the two-year Community Worker Diploma Program at their St. James campus.

Who should apply?

- Applicants who are eligible for funding from Miziwe Biik
- Writing level of about Grade 9 or 10 (Ontario) Applied or Academic
- Have left school for reasons beyond their control
- Little / no experience in the social work field (or have demonstrated reason to apply to the program)
- Not able to gain acceptance from George Brown's School of Community Service and Early Childhood without this program
- Live in the Greater Toronto Area (G.T.A.)
