

Anishnawbe Health Toronto

Our mission: to improve the health and wellbeing of Aboriginal People in spirit, mind, emotion, and body by providing Traditional Healing within a multidisciplinary health care model.

Diabetes Nurse Educator

Full-Time Continuing Position

Are you interested in working in the urban Indigenous community? Anishnawbe Health Toronto is a fully accredited community health center offering access to health care for Indigenous people living in the GTA. With Indigenous culture and tradition at its core, AHT offers a full range of services and healthcare providers, including Traditional Healers, Medicine People, primary care and mental health practitioners, and service providers focusing on the social determinants of health. We provide care from a blended model of Traditional and Western approaches to improve our clients' wellbeing. As the Diabetes Nurse Educator, you will be in proximity to Traditional Healers and Traditional knowledge carriers, where you will engage in consultation and learn cultural approaches to healing and wellness.

Duties & Responsibilities:

- Perform duties within the Diabetes Education Program (DEP) team
- Develop and implement diabetes management education programming
- Contribute to the development of policies, procedures, protocols, medical directives and best practice guidelines
- Develop programs for health promotion and disease prevention for diabetic clients
- Contribute to the development of client centered healing paths, in conjunction with and in collaboration with clients, health care providers and Traditional Healers, Elders and Medicine People
- Provide diabetes education and monitoring services to individual clients to better manage diabetes

- Other related duties as assigned

Qualifications & Experience:

- Registration with the College of Nurses of Ontario
- Current certification as a Diabetes Educator
- 2 years' experience in Diabetes Education Programming
- Effective consultation and collaboration skills
- Ability to develop program curriculum
- Ability to function independently and within a multidisciplinary team
- Respect for and an understanding of Aboriginal culture, traditions and teachings
- Knowledge of Aboriginal health issues and the impacts of post-colonial and residential school histories
- Clinical experience in diabetes management

Why Choose Anishnawbe Health?

AHT offers a competitive salary and comprehensive benefits package. As the Diabetes Nurse Educator, you will be a member of a multidisciplinary team including but not limited to psychiatry, Traditional Healers, counsellors, Two Spirit Trans services, primary care, Rapid Access Addiction Medicine, Housing Supports, and programming for children and youth. All services are delivered from a newly developed location in Toronto's Canary District.

How to Apply: Ready to embark on a rewarding journey with Anishnawbe Health? Submit your cover letter and resume by email to recruitment@aht.ca as a single document to become an integral part of a team committed to holistic health and a strong community.

Position will remain open until filled

Applicants who are Indigenous and meet the requirements of the job posting will be given first consideration in the hiring process.

Anishnawbe Health Toronto is committed to diversity and values the contribution of its employees from diverse backgrounds and experiences. We welcome applications from Indigenous persons, visible minority group members, women, and persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who contribute to greater diversity of perspectives.

(If you are invited for an interview and require accommodation, please let us know)
Meegwetch to all applicants, however, only those selected for an interview will be contacted.